SCANNED DOCUMENTATION FOR ACCESSIONED ELECTRONIC RECORDS (Prepared for scanning: February 27, 2009)

Federal Assistance Award Data System, FY1994

Record Group 029 Records of the Bureau of the Census

The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) has been accepting electronic records into its holdings since the early 1970s. Documentation in paper format has accompanied each transfer of electronic records. This documentation is necessary to understand the meaning of the digitized bits of information within the electronic records.

Over the decades, NARA has had different procedures to compile documentation into an organized unit for researchers, and different expectations regarding the content and extent of any NARA-produced portions of the documentation. Consequently, the structure, organization, and contents of the documentation reflect the procedures in place when the documentation was compiled and arranged. So one should expect differences in the structure, content, and organization of the following documentation from the documentation for other series of electronic records that are available on the NARA web site.

The following documentation may include out of date addresses, telephone numbers, or other items of unrevised information related to the agency that created or transferred the documentation and electronic records to NARA, to the NARA unit that processed these materials, or to the physical media of the electronic records files. The readability and visual quality are also variable. In addition, for scanning purposes NARA staff has made a deliberate selection of pages from the technical and/or supplementary documentation available for this series or file(s). Consequently, additional documentation relating to this series or file(s) may be available at NARA.
